About the College

Established in 2011, K J Somaiya College of Nursing is recognised for its commitment to academic excellence and quality education in the field of healthcare. The college aims to impart nursing education to prepare professionals who are knowledgeable, skilful, and equipped with the right professional attitudes to deliver nursing services at par with global standards.

Aligned with Indian Nursing Council (INC) and Maharashtra University of Health Sciences (MUHS) standards, the college focuses on producing professionals who can not only deliver care, but also lead teams, contribute to research, and shape healthcare outcomes.

K J Somaiya College of Nursing is part of the expansive Somaiya Ayurvihar campus in Mumbai, a well-developed healthcare and education hub that offers students access to a wide range of academic, clinical, and support facilities. The campus brings together K J Somaiya Medical College, K J Somaiya Hospital & Research Centre, and K J Somaiya College of Physiotherapy, creating an integrated environment for collaborative learning, interdisciplinary exposure, and comprehensive patient care.

Programme Highlights

The programme reflects the growing role of higher education in nursing, where professionals are expected to move beyond clinical care into leadership, research, and informed decision-making. It builds advanced clinical competence alongside critical thinking and evidence-based practice.

Students progress from foundational learning to advanced practice, with focused exposure to critical care, maternal health, and mental health. The curriculum integrates research and interdisciplinary collaboration, preparing graduates for roles across clinical practice, education, and healthcare administration.
